Senator Brown's Plain Talk to Democrats.

In the Senate Thursday Senator Brown made a speech against the Pendleton civil service bill. Touching upon the recent election he said: It is true that it was in an off year, but prudent repub-licans see that unless the democrats are guilty of some great fault on some important question there can be but little donbt that the next President of this Re public will be a democrat. My fellowlemocrats, how do you go into that campaign. Suppose you put in nomina-tion the gentleman from Ohio [Mr. Pen-dleton], or the gentleman from Deleware [Mr Bayard], or any of the other distinchange of administration, has hedged and passed upon us a civil-service bill winter season.

The following is the resolution adopted for the purpose of relieving the tobacco for any of the higher vacancies that may is no chance for a democrat. What effect do you think that announcement will have on the spirits and energy with which the democrats will go into the next campaign? You must remember that in a free republican government like this men fight for offices as well as principle, and if you deal with the demcampaign with spirit or energy. But, it is replied, that the democratic candidate will not be likely to meet so strong an opposition from the republicans in office if we pass this bill. I have no faith in Prof. James Adair Lyon, youngest on of the late Dr. Jas. A Lyon, who
